

NOTTINGHAM YOUNG MUSICIANS

SHOWCASE CONCERT: Saturday 12th January 2019 at 7pm

Dear Young Musicians,

Following the latest huge success of the complete Mendelssohn Octet for strings by 8 of our 'Nottingham Young Musicians' players at the St Peter's Coffee Morning Concert Series on 10th November 2018 (watch mini-clip here), we are now opening up applications to other young performers for our next Showcase Concert. It will be on Saturday 12th January 2019 at 7pm, again at St Peter's Church in Nottingham (adjacent to M&S).

We are happy to have a few solos but it's much more fun playing with friends in an ensemble, so we'd particularly like to showcase some group items, e.g. duets, trios or anything really. It would also be nice to have some jazz and some singers. We hope to circulate this around as many teachers as we can contact but we may not reach all of them so do pass this on.

We look forward to hearing you perform. If you are a string player and would welcome the opportunity to play in a large or small string ensemble, then do let us know. Our string orchestra, The String Fellows welcomes players from grade 4+ standard.

Contact us on info@nottinghamyoungmusicians.co.uk stating, your name(s) and age(s), your instruments including approximate standard grade and your proposed performance piece (if known). If you're interested in joining The String Fellows, then we'll be having a handful of rehearsals between now and the concert date, so let us know as soon as possible if you are interested in taking part.

It would be great to hear from you!

With best wishes,

Derek Williams
Artistic Director
